RESTORING AND REVITALISING OUR MARKET

The City of Melbourne's Renewal Program is continuing to restore and revitalise Queen Victoria Market and the surrounding area. Along with other improvements and initiatives, we are working hard to make sure the Market remains one of Melbourne's most treasured places to visit.

Restoration works are continuing in E and F Sheds to help bring them up to 21st century standards while retaining their old-world charm. Following the successful introduction of new services including running water and individual electricity supply in A and B Sheds, it will soon be H and I Sheds turn to be restored.

This important phase of Renewal Works will kick off early in the New Year, but don't worry – all your favourite traders will still be open and ready to serve you from their temporary home elsewhere in the Market.

NEW PLACES TO EAT AND DRINK AT THE MARKET

Market Lane Coffee has opened its latest shop in the Munro building on Queen Street. Open seven days a week, pop by to enjoy the cosy space and grab a freshly brewed coffee.

Fit outs are currently underway at some other shop fronts, so stay tuned for more great venues opening soon to join Market Lane, Only Mine chocolate and ReWine in the Munro building.

Work is also continuing on the new Food Hall with installation of imported Welsh roof tiles and new services for heating, cooling and ventilation.

As a result of the ongoing challenges facing the construction industry the new Food Hall is set to open in 2023, offering a unique opportunity to enjoy Melbourne's unrivalled foodie culture, complete with space to relax and soak up the great market atmosphere.

The poster features a vibrant, tropical-themed background with a warm color palette of pinks, oranges, and greens. A large green circular band frames the central text. Various summer-related icons are scattered around the edges, including a guitar, a cocktail glass, a pineapple, a watermelon slice, a beach ball, and a palm tree. The central text is in a bold, white, sans-serif font with a slight drop shadow.
